

Introduction

Contributed by Dainis W. Michel
 Monday, 24 September 2007
 Last Updated Thursday, 22 May 2008

Congratulations on choosing a robust green life of harmonious joy abundance health wealth wisdom and nurturing sustainability. Everyone thanks you. All over the earth, there are critters, ecosystems, animals, people, breezes, mountains and waterfalls thanking you. And that's just the beginning.

Right now, there are leaves inhaling deeply, trees being planted, toxic waste being re-naturalized...and you are now a part of that movement.

- Most of us still have clothes and products created by slave labor
- Most of us still drive gasoline-powered automobiles
- Most of us purchase electricity from companies that are destroying the earth
- Most of us eat toxic foods
- Most of us are unhealthy
- Most of us are dehydrated
- Most of us are drinking unwholesome drinking water

Do I need to go on?

Probably not. We all know.

But I'll go on just a bit...

- Most of us have friends and family members who've died untimely deaths
- Most of us watch in horror the ravages of war and exploitation that dominate our mass media
- Most of us care deeply, and wish to somehow help...but have no idea how to
- Most of us are having a hard enough time with our own lives to be told that climate change, war, slave labor, the energy crisis, and all these other really bad things are OUR responsibility.
- It gets even worse when someone says: "it's YOUR fault," "YOU need to change"
- And the worseness just gets worse when the people who say "it's YOUR fault" provide no workable solutions for your life...I mean how are you supposed to reverse global warming...how are you supposed to deal with the emissions from your vehicle, how are you supposed to find food that's wholesome...

But it's all different now. As a member, you can access exclusive interviews and content specifically designed to save you time in your quest to bring thriving, loving, nurturing abundance into your life and into the lives of everyone you contact.

You've opened the door to enrichment and abundance. rGlohJahWwans.com is a gateway to real solutions. "All of the green and none of the sacrifice" isn't just a slogan...it's a demand...a mantra...an MO...and it's completely possible.

We're going to diffuse climate change and have a total blast...I mean mega-fun, super-smiles, happy giggles, a major party...the whole time!

Please remember to share your experiences with the rGlohJahWwans community, because we're a bunch of rabid copycats. Enjoy your membership!